

Oncology Nursing Society

A Look Forward to 2011

Where We Want To Be

Key Targets for 2011

- Targeted, flexible products based on identified needs
- Premium oncology nursing education on adult survivorship
- Increased student nurse awareness
- APN oncology curriculum
- Identified gaps in school of nursing cancer curriculum
- Leadership principles
- ONS programs make a difference in patient care.
- Testing and integration of oncology nursing-sensitive quality measures
- Measureable impact on practice in priority regions outside U.S.

- Priority educational offerings and continuous professional development
- Survivorship
- Future workforce, nononcology nurses, nurse practitioners
- Leadership tied to career resources
- Measuring the impact of education
- Quality indicators
- Healthcare reform
- Sharing models of care
- Continued development of Putting Evidence Into Practice (PEP) project
- International efforts aimed at clinical and leadership areas

- Partnerships focus on ONS priorities.
- SIG and chapter voices are incorporated.
- ONS seeks more partners to help fulfill strategic plan.
- ONS is a “go-to” organization in the cancer care community.

- External cancer and nursing communities
- Insurers
- Chapters and SIGs
- Business partners
- International partners

- ONS is considered the “go-to” organization for cancer care information and support.
- ONS members are highly engaged in health policy.
- ONS legislation increasingly is recognized on Capitol Hill.

- Increased recognition in the cancer community
- Increased ONS member engagement in health policy
- Medicare coverage for patient education
- International nongovernmental organization capacity building
- Awareness of healthcare reform changes

Watch our progress!
 Updates will be posted on our website at www.ons.org/ throughout 2011.